TO QUIT VERA CRUZ

Washington Orders American Soldiers
From Mexican City.

Announcement was made by President Wilson that he has ordered the withdrawal of the United States forces from Vera Cruz.

The announcement followed a discussion of the situation at the cabinet meeting and came as a direct result of favorable advice from Paul Fuller, President Wilson's personal representative, who is returning from an investigating trip to Mexico.

It is understood that Mr. Fuller reported that the withdrawal would greatly facilitate the efforts of Carranza to establish a stable government in Mexico. The immediate effect of the president's act will be to leave Carranza free to conduct the reorganization of Mexico without any restraint and to put him in possession of one of the most important points in all Mexico.

The withdrawal will take place just as soon as arrangements can be made for the delivery of the city to the properly constituted Mexican authorities.

The president's statement on the subject was limited to the following: "The troops have been ordered withdrawn from Vera Cruz. This action is taken in view of the entire removal of the circumstances which were thought to justify the occupation. The further presence of the troops is deemed unnecessary."

While no mention was made of the fleet it is understood in official circles that with the withdrawal of the troops most of the warships in Mexican waters will be ordered home.

REPLY TO BULLET PROTEST

Wilson Does Not Believe It Is Time
Yet For Judgment.

President Wilson has laid down a general principle by which the United States will be guided throughout the war in receiving and considering protests from one belligerent against another.

The president has decided that the United States will not attempt to form or express a final judgment or any of these protests; that to do so would be inconsistent with the neutrality of the United States government.

The language of his reply to the kaiser and his verbal answer to the Belgians were identical, so far as the vital portions were concerned.

A cablegram replying to the protest of President Poincare of France, who charged that the Germans were using dum dum bullets also was prepared. It was not made public, but was known to follow closely the text of the president's message to Emperor William.

CAUTION SEEN BY DUN'S

Trade Review Notes Hesitancy in Business Circles.

Dun's Review of Trade says this week:

"Hesitancy in entering upon new commitments continues and a spirit of caution is everywhere manifest, yet the confident feeling in business circles is maintained. Sentiment is strengthened by developments in the financial situation, a favorable impression being created by the further improvement in foreign exchange and the action taken with a view to meeting maturing obligations abroad.

"Failures this week in the United States were 384, compared with 282; in Canada, 55 against 20 last year."

WAR PARAGRAPHS

Twelve hundred prisoners arrived at Rennes, according to a dispatch to the Havas agency, and were sent to Brest. Twenty Alsations were among the prisoners. These signed an agreement to join the foreign legion of the French army and were released.

The French have repulsed with success from Noyon, a distance of about 100 miles. Here between 2,000,000 and 3,000,000 are engaged in a struggle that in ferocity and strategic importance bids fair to surpass the battle of the Marne.

The Belgians have refused to treat as a prisoner of war Commandant Meune of the landsturm at Louvain. He is being held as a criminal prisoner at Antwerp and will be court-martialed for gross infractions of the laws of war. The future campaign is to be controlled by the developments in France.

The precautions being taken in Paris against surprises have caused an order which went into effect forbidding automobiles to leave Paris except military machines and ambulances and cars carrying officials and journalists between Paris and Bordeaux.

The name of Mme. Adrienne Buhet head of the Dames Du Sacre Coeurs appears in a long list of names of those killed on a battlefield. She was struck by a bullet from a German machine gun as she was raising the head of a wounded soldier.

Official announcement was made in Tokyo that a bomb dropped by a Japanese aviator had set fire to a German ship in Kiauchau bay. Attempts to wreck the wireless station there in the same manner have failed thus far.

The Paris papers describe a gallant feat by Jules Vedrines, the noted aviator. Vedrines in a 180-horsepower Bleriot started in pursuit of a German machine. He got above the German machine and by a well directed fire sent it tumbling to the earth.

Constructively "She."
In a well known college for women where the faculty consists chiefly of the gentler sex a meeting of the academic council was in progress. Here and there a lone man sat isolated in the concourse of learned ladies. An amendment had just been proposed.

"Where is the person who offers this amendment?" inquired the president.

"Who is she?"

Whereupon Mr. Plower, the popular young professor of a favorite subject, rose and replied deprecatingly, "I am she."—Youth's Companion.

FROLASET

Front Laced Corset

This week we are making an effort to acquaint women with the merit of the Frolaset. A special showing of the new Fall Models is now in progress. Every corset will be fitted. Women who are not in immediate need of a corset, may arrange for a trial fitting. It isn't necessary to purchase. We simply want you to see whether or not the Frolaset will improve the appearance of your figure. We want you to compare the Frolaset with the corset you are now wearing.

Each garment so admirably meets the needs of the figure for which it was designed. The stout woman's corset is the best we have ever fitted. The model for the growing girl is really the first corset of this kind that fully answers the requirements of the youthful figure. The model for the short slender woman seems to be different from any corset we know of. The medium-sized woman will find the Frolaset all she may anticipate. In a word—"they're perfect."

A Rather Novel Complaint.

An English traveler once met a companion sitting in a state of the most woeful despair and apparently near the last agonies by the side of one of the mountain lakes of Switzerland. He inquired the cause of his sufferings.

"Oh," said the latter, "I was very hot and thirsty and took a large draft of the clear water of the lake and then sat down on this stone to consult my guidebook. To my astonishment, I found that the water of this lake is very poisonous! Oh, I am a gone man! I feel it running all over me. I have only a few minutes to live. Remember me to—"

"Let me see the guidebook," said his friend. Turning to the passage, he found, "L'eau du lac est bien poisonneuse" (The water of this lake abounds in fish).

"Is that the meaning of it?"

"Certainly!"

The dying man looked up with a radiant countenance.

"What would have become of you," said his friend, "if I had not met you?"

"I should have died of imperfect knowledge of the French language."

Winning the Victoria Cross.

This is the story of the act of gallantry for which Lieutenant Roberts won the V. C. at Khodagunge. After a pursuit which had continued for nearly five miles a body of mutineers had been overtaken, who faced about and fired into the squadron at close quarters. Roberts saw Younghusband fall, but could not get to his assistance, as at that moment one of his sowers was in dire peril from a sepo who was attacking him with a fixed bayonet, and had he not helped the man and disposed of his opponent he must have been killed. Roberts then deserted a sepoy making off with a standard and rode after the rebels and overtook them, and while wrenching the staff out of the hands of one of them, whom he cut down, was nearly killed by another man who put his musket close to his body, but the weapon fortunately missed fire, and he carried off the standard.—Cornhill Magazine.

It is well to admit occasionally to your friend that he knows more than you do. It gives him a great impression of your discrimination and good sense.—New Orleans Playmate.

Virtuous For Your Own Sake.

I would be virtuous for my own sake, though nobody were to know it, as I would be clean for my own sake, though nobody were to see me.—Shaftesbury.
